In 1992, Venerable Huili embarked on a journey to Africa. He established the first "Amitofo Care Center" (ACC) in Malawi during 2004, dedicated to caring for African vulnerable children and where more than 85% of world's HIV-positive children live. Today, many years later, the founder continues with his compassionate practice of Buddhism in Africa traveling to all corners of Africa, and helping countless precious young lives. Nowadays, he is known as the "African monk" or "Monk dad" in the eyes of thousands of children.

Learning does not only apply to school, but everywhere. The world is a book, and so are people. You must be attentive, learn to care and observe all things in the world. You are still young. When you come to ACC, you have housing, a bed, a quilt, water, electricity, clothes, and etc. Where did all this come from? Think about it carefully. The sponsor parents from all over the world who give their love to you, make this life and environment achievable.

Since childhood, I have been one that concerns about the little things in life. Only when I grew older I learnt how to help others. When you are older, younger brothers and sisters will come to ACC, and you will need more water and food. It is best to grow your own vegetables. You don't need to buy them. At Cape Town Farm I planted so many melons that I could not finish eating them myself. You are still young, but you will grow up and learn to care about your knowledge and skills attentively. When you grow up, you don't know anything. No one will help you. You have to learn all kinds of knowledge in order to deal with the challenges in life.

The path is to come out on your own, to study harder, to prepare early, and to grow up to be able to solve problems in life. For example, the food is delicious, you have to think about how to grow it, how to cook it. Life's homework is like cooking, you have to participate in the experience process yourself. All things are discovered by your own participation. If you have any job opportunities in the future, you must actively participate in learning, such as tidying up the room, cooking, etc.

I hope you will know many things when you grow up. Besides taking good care of yourself, you will be able to help others. Coach Wang is going back to China. You have to practice martial arts well, for Shaolin Kungfu to become African Kungfu, learn it with your heart, and pass it on. You should thank Coach Wang and Aunt Tingting for their teaching and care.

Monk dad is under great pressure. Your living and education expenses need a lot of money that I manage over. You must also do your responsibilities and feel the love given to you with your heart. All the sponsor parents hope that you will study hard and work hard. Let yourself become good and strong, so that everyone can rest assured and happy, so that more brothers and sisters who need help will have a better environment to grow up.
